Dear Frank:

I guess you're thinking that my weeks are getting damn long. I had every intention of writing more after than this, but I've been so busy at work and so damn tired I can't see straight. Am on my vacation this week and have been sick every day. I know what I need. A good drink!

Everything is about the same Frank. The election stirred things up a little and I took a jaunting from the start. Sima Dewey man or was. It don't make a whole lot of difference to me. I never was too much interested in politics. The H. I's have finished their training at our place and I think they got something out of it. They said it was a swell deal. Toward the end they had tests and it kept me a little busy. I thought I'd have to get the books out again. We don't know whether we'll have more or not.

I only got to see one football game this year and that was on a Sat one. I sure would like to be tossing the ball around again. I never got enough time while I was in service. Now I can't see while I'm out. If you happen to run across a ball toss a few for me.

The Wife and Boy send their regards Frank and I sure hope everything going O.K. I'm looking forward to seeing you fellows in N.Y. again.
